URGENT QUESTIONS AND STATEMENTS

12.30pm

- Urgent Questions (if any)
- Ministerial Statements (if any)

PRESENTATION OF BILLS

No debate (Standing Order No. 57)

- Ministerial and Other Pensions and Salaries (Amendment) Bill

David Linden

Bill to provide that a person who ceases to hold a ministerial office is entitled to a grant only after holding the relevant office for two years or more; and for connected purposes.

BUSINESS OF THE DAY

1. NHS PRESCRIPTIONS (DRUG TARIFF LABELLING): TEN MINUTE RULE MOTION

Up to 20 minutes (Standing Order No. 23)

Craig Mackinlay

That leave be given to bring in a Bill to require community pharmacies and other providers of NHS-funded prescriptions to show, on the patient label, the prevailing Drug Tariff value of the items dispensed; and for connected purposes.

Notes:

The Member moving and a Member opposing this Motion may each speak for up to 10 minutes.

2. RETAINED EU LAW (REVOCATION AND REFORM) BILL: SECOND READING

Until 7.00pm (Standing Order No. 9(3))

Caroline Lucas

Liz Saville Roberts

Hywel Williams

Clive Lewis

Claire Hanna

Stephen Farry

Ben Lake

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Retained EU Law (Revocation and Reform) Bill because while it makes provision relating to retained EU law, it risks endangering environmental and public health; could lead to thousands of pieces of essential legislation on workers' rights, consumer standards and environmental protections being eroded; constitutes the most significant threat to environmental law in recent UK history; would give Ministers significant executive powers to remove or weaken legislation and could lead to a deregulatory race to the bottom, rather than upholding the 2019 Conservative manifesto commitment to maintain high standards; risks breaching the UK's commitments under the UK-EU Trade and Cooperation Agreement; creates an unnecessary cliff edge because the sunset clause laid out in the bill would automatically revoke legislation on 31st December 2023 which could lead to significant gaps in the UK's legislative framework; could have potentially far-reaching impacts on the UK's environment, workers and businesses, of which the Government has not published an assessment; will have major and hugely uncertain impacts on devolved competences, undermines Parliamentary scrutiny and fails to provide a process for legislation to be properly considered, updated and strengthened; would create an unstable operating environment for businesses; will come at significant cost to the Treasury at a time of economic uncertainty for the UK; and threatens the delivery of the UK's climate and environmental targets, rather than taking the action necessary to protect and restore nature and limit global temperatures to 1.5 degrees.

Brendan O'Hara

Peter Grant

Ian Blackford

Kirsten Oswald

Owen Thompson

Patrick Grady

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Retained EU Law (Revocation and Reform) Bill because it undermines devolution by allowing Ministers to act in policy areas that are devolved, without the consent of Scottish Ministers or the Scottish Parliament; threatens thousands of current statutory protections covering workers' rights, food and health standards; is an attack on nature; and creates an arbitrary sunset clause which could cause hundreds of protections to needlessly fall off the statute book at the end of 2023.

Keir Starmer

Angela Rayner

Jonathan Reynolds

Justin Madders

Jim McMahon

Sir Alan Campbell

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Retained EU Law (Revocation and Reform) Bill because, notwithstanding the need to address the future status and suitability of retained EU law following departure from the European Union, the Bill creates substantial uncertainty for businesses and workers risking business investment into the UK, is a significant threat to core British rights and protections for working people, consumers and the environment as signalled by the wide body of organisations opposed to the Bill, could jeopardise the UK's need to maintain a level playing field with the Single Market under the terms of the Trade and Cooperation Agreement, and contains powers which continue a dangerous trend of growing executive power, undermining democratic scrutiny and accountability.

Ed Davey

Daisy Cooper

Munira Wilson

Layla Moran

Christine Jardine

Tim Farron

Richard Foord

Helen Morgan

Wera Hobhouse

Wendy Chamberlain

Mr Alistair Carmichael

Jamie Stone

Sarah Green

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Retained EU Law (Revocation and Reform) Bill because it weakens the control of Parliament over the United Kingdom's laws and gives sweeping powers to Government ministers instead, because the Bill sets an arbitrary deadline for the revocation of hundreds of laws protecting British air, wildlife, food standards, rivers and seas from sewage pollution as well as employment rights, with no indication of the rules that will replace them, because the Bill imposes a legislative cliff-edge at the end of 2023 that will create damaging uncertainty and confusion for people and businesses in the midst of an economic crisis, because there is a lack of funding, expertise and a coherent plan to enable legislative changes to be made in Government departments, and because the Bill fails to take measures to support people and business such as making taxes fairer, tackling the climate emergency, reducing trade barriers with the United Kingdom's largest trading partners, and boosting economic growth.

Fifth Report of the European Scrutiny Committee, Session 2022-23, Retained EU Law: Where next?, HC 122; and the Government's response, reported to the House on 21 October 2022.
