Thangam Debbonaire

Sir Alan Campbell

That this House condemns the Government's failure to train enough staff to tackle the worst workforce crisis in the history of the National Health Service with a current shortage of 9,000 hospital doctors and 47,000 nurses; notes reports that the draft NHS England workforce plan calls for a doubling of medical school places to address this crisis; calls on the Chancellor of the Exchequer to use the upcoming Spring Budget to end the 200-year-old non-domiciled tax status regime; and further calls on the Government to use revenue generated by ending that regime to adopt Labour's plan to expand the NHS workforce by doubling the number of medical training places, delivering 10,000 more nursing and midwifery clinical placements, training twice the number of district nurses each year and delivering 5,000 more health visitors.

Line 3, leave out from “nurses” to end and add:

“notes recent Nuffield Trust research which highlights that the number of European health workers moving to the UK has declined steeply; calls on the Government and the Official Opposition to end their support for a hard Brexit which is exacerbating the NHS workforce decline; and further calls on the Chancellor of the Exchequer to use the upcoming Spring Budget to uplift NHS and social care pay in England to match that in Scotland.”

■ Increasing labour market activity

Keir Starmer

Angela Rayner

Jonathan Ashworth

Alison McGovern

Thangam Debbonaire

Sir Alan Campbell

That this House is concerned that the number of people out of work and economically inactive is higher than before the pandemic, that thousands of older people have left the labour market and that there have been significant increases in the number of people out of work due to ill health or mental ill health; notes that recent employment support schemes have underperformed and underspent; condemns the Government for its failure to get more people into work; regrets that this failure is contributing to low economic growth and falling living standards; and therefore calls on the Government to get Britain back to work by reforming disability benefit assessments, devolving employment support to local areas and providing specialist and targeted help for those with long-term ill health or aged over 50 to grow the economy and boost both public finances and household incomes.
