BUSINESS OF THE DAY

1. SAFETY OF RWANDA (ASYLUM AND IMMIGRATION) BILL: SECOND READING

Until 7.00pm (Standing Order No. 9(3))

That this House, while agreeing on the need to prevent and deter the exploitation of vulnerable migrants brought to the UK by people smugglers via unsafe routes, declines to give a Second Reading to the Safety of Rwanda (Asylum and Immigration) Bill as it would place the United Kingdom at risk of breaching international law, including the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) and the 1951 Convention Relating to the Status of Refugees, and because, owing to the lack of clarity regarding the total projected costs of the revised Migration and Economic Development Partnership between the United Kingdom and Rwanda, this Bill is likely to place an uncertain burden on the taxpayer.

Keir Starmer

Angela Rayner

Yvette Cooper

Stephen Kinnock

Lucy Powell

Sir Alan Campbell

That this House, while affirming support for securing the UK's borders, reforming the broken asylum system and ending dangerous small boat crossings, declines to give a Second Reading to the Safety of Rwanda (Asylum and Immigration) Bill because the Bill will not work to tackle people smuggling gangs, end small boat crossings or achieve the core purposes of the Bill, will lead to substantial costs to the UK taxpayer every year whilst applying to less than one per cent of those who claim asylum in the UK, threatens the UK's compliance with international law, further undermines the potential to establish security and returns agreements with other countries and does not prevent the return of relocated individuals who commit serious crimes in Rwanda back to the UK.

Caroline Lucas

Liz Saville Roberts

Claire Hanna

Hywel Williams

Ben Lake

That this House, while supporting the Government's stated aim to protect vulnerable people from the dangers of crossing the English Channel in small boats, declines to give the Safety of Rwanda (Asylum and Immigration) Bill a Second Reading because outsourcing the UK's human rights obligations to a third country is both unworkable and immoral, because the Bill overrides the UK Supreme Court's recent judgement and finding that Rwanda is not a safe country and undermines the role of domestic courts by seeking to legislate by assertion that Rwanda is safe, something that can only be determined by the facts on the ground, because the Bill fundamentally undermines the separation of powers by eroding the ability of the UK's domestic courts to scrutinise the legality of Government decisions, and degrades the UK's human rights reputation, disrespecting the role the UK has played in helping to shape the international rules based order, including its contribution to the drafting and early ratification of the European Convention on Human Rights in the aftermath of the horrors of WWII.

That this House, while approving the changes to taxation of tobacco in the Finance Bill and full expensing being made permanent, declines to give the Bill a Second Reading because it fails to make a much-needed reduction in VAT for the hospitality and tourism sectors, and fails to introduce measures through the tax system that would help alleviate poverty.
