Report from the Attorney General on bills affecting charities or educational foundations
(Standing Order 158)

Royal Albert Hall Bill [Lords]

Lord Hermer, Attorney General, Attorney General's Office, made the following report to the Chairman of Ways and Means on 1 September 2025:

I do not object to the Bill, however, I share my predecessor's disappointment that the Bill is not more ambitious. It fails to address the well-recognised potential conflict between the private interests of seat-holding trustees and the Corporation's charitable objects. It is regrettable that the Bill does not make any meaningful change to the governance arrangements of Royal Albert Hall, which remains one of the UK's most important cultural institutions.
