2. Opposition Day (12th Allotted Day)

Until 7.00pm (Standing Order No. 9\(3\))

■ Supporting high streets

Mrs Kemi Badenoch

Andrew Griffith

Rebecca Harris

Matt Vickers

Gareth Davies

Dame Harriett Baldwin

Rebecca Paul

Alison Griffiths

That this House calls on the Government to support high streets by cutting public expenditure to facilitate the abolition of business rates for thousands of retail, hospitality and leisure premises on the high street; and further calls on the Government not to proceed with the Employment Rights Bill to avoid hiring freezes and job losses, to remove red tape for businesses, including by reviewing IR35, to cut energy bills for businesses and to tackle retail crime, thereby protecting key pillars of local communities including post offices, pubs and pharmacies.

Amendment (a)

The Prime Minister

Secretary Steve Reed

Secretary Peter Kyle

Blair McDougall

Miatta Fahnbulleh

Jonathan Reynolds

Leave out from “House” to end and insert “recognises the need to rejuvenate high streets following 14 years of decline under the previous Administration; welcomes the Government’s action to restore Pride in Place backed by £5 billion to support 339 locations to empower communities to drive meaningful change in their local area, including high streets; supports local communities being given new powers to tackle vacancies, and prevent new betting and vape shops in their areas, including the ability to auction off persistently empty premises through High Street Rental Auctions; further welcomes the English Devolution and Community Empowerment Bill that will ban upwards-only rent reviews in commercial leases, helping to create fairer rental conditions; endorses the Government's support for property owners; also welcomes that from April 2026, eligible retail, hospitality, and leisure properties with rateable values below £500,000 will benefit from permanently lower business rates multipliers; welcomes the Plan for Small Businesses which supports high street small businesses as the backbone of local economies and which commits to cut the administrative burden of regulation for businesses by 25%; and further recognises that the Employment Rights Bill will bring employment rights legislation into the 21st century, extending the protections that many small businesses already offer their workers to all."

Amendment (b)Sarah Olney*Ed Davey*Wendy Chamberlain*Daisy Cooper

Leave out from "House" to end and insert "recognises that high streets play a vital role in local communities, supporting small businesses, jobs, culture and social life; believes that the previous Government left high streets struggling with rising energy costs, continued Brexit uncertainty, and a broken apprenticeship system; regrets that the previous Government failed to reform the unfair business rates system; opposes the current Government's damaging employer's National Insurance increase that will hit high street businesses and jobs; notes that the reduction in Retail, Hospitality and Leisure Business Rates Relief from 75% to 40% combined with the abolition of the £110,000 cap per firm effectively leaves small businesses subsidising large chains; further notes the other challenges that affect high street businesses, such as high energy costs, workforce shortages, and the previous Government's failure to secure a satisfactory trade deal with the EU; calls on the Government to support Britain's high streets by replacing business rates with a Commercial Landowner Levy; further calls on the Government to implement a plan to cut energy costs for businesses within a decade; and also calls on the Government to support the high street by negotiating a new bespoke UK-EU customs union, fixing the broken apprenticeship system, supporting local authorities to develop long-term strategies that encourage entrepreneurship, investment and innovation, and ensuring that small independent businesses are supported rather than subsidising large corporate chains."

■ Welfare spendingMrs Kemi Badenoch*Helen Whately*Rebecca Harris*Rebecca Smith

That this House regrets the failure of the Government to get people off welfare and into work; believes that reforming the welfare system is a moral mission; and therefore calls on the Government to take urgent action to fix Britain's welfare system by restricting welfare for non-UK citizens, stopping benefits for those with lower-level mental health conditions, increasing the number of face-to-face assessments, reforming the Motability Scheme so that only those with serious disabilities qualify for a vehicle, and retaining the two-child benefit cap, to get people into employment and build a stronger economy.

Amendment (a)

Kirsty Blackman

Stephen Flynn

Seamus Logan

Graham Leadbitter

Pete Wishart

Dave Doogan

Stephen Gethins

Siân Berry

Ann Davies

Chris Law

Llinos Medi

Ben Lake

Brendan O'Hara

Liz Saville Roberts

Leave out from “House” to end and insert “urges the Government to remove the two-child benefit cap.”

Amendment (b)

Steve Darling

Ed Davey

Wendy Chamberlain

Daisy Cooper

Leave out from “mission” to end and insert “notes with concern that, under the previous Government, those economically inactive due to long-term illness rose to 2.8 million, while spending on incapacity and disability benefits increased from £34 billion to £51 billion; further believes that rising welfare spending must be addressed fairly by tackling its underlying causes, including physical and mental ill-health, and the cost of living crisis; also believes that everyone should be able to live independently and with dignity, including vulnerable people and their carers; believes in tackling the disability employment gap through specialist support and by improving the Access to Work scheme; further believes that more benefit assessments should happen in person to improve accuracy and trust; calls on the Government to tackle the root causes of rising welfare costs by ending the crisis in health and social care by completing the social care review by the end of 2025, investing in public health, primary care and early mental health support, including community hubs, improving preventative health services by increasing the public health grant, reducing costs for disabled households through free insulation, heat pumps and a social energy tariff, and supporting carers by ending the Carer’s Allowance cliff-edge through an earnings taper; and further calls on the Government to remove the two-child limit and the benefit cap, which would be the most cost-effective way of tackling child poverty.”
